SPRINGFIELD MUTUAL HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY.

SPRINGFIELD, XASS.

i. GEO. H. NORMAN, Agont.

THIS institution is conducted on the mutaa principle, so far as to almit the parties insured to an equal participation in the profits of the cell to an equal participation in the process of the impany.

It insures to male and found persons between the ages of fifteen and disty years, a weekly income at the rate of 100 per cent, upon amounts cannotify deposited; in cases of disquidification of business by reason of sitckness or accident. For instance, a person paying $55 a year, insures to himself $5 (or 100 per cent.) for every week's filtees within that year. These beachts are independent of whatever dividends may annually accross to himself sured.

The main design of this company is a crabble probent and discreet persons of entall means, to make provision while in health, by a triding outley, against the aggregatated sufferings that furvitably intrades sick ted, in seasons of pecuniary privation and of instility to labor. A vast amount of human wretchedness has been prevented or intigated, within the process generation, by the establishment, in Europe, of similar provident institutions; and within a short period, this system of Health Insurance has been introduced into our own country, with results, thus far, expully beneficial to all whose relief it contemplates—more especially to those who toil dails, for their daily breach, and to whom my interruption by sickness becomes a serious and distressing calmosty.

By this system, also, one pressa may insure the health of another—a parint that of a child, or a child that of a parent—an employer that of a workness, or of an apprentice, Sc.—Thus, those who are able, by a small immediate intertamin, mayer-lieve themselves from the hearth of incurring The main design of this company is near, or of an appendice, Sc. Thus, those who are able, by a small immediate intestantly may relieve themselves from the hand of incorring heavy brothems, indicted involutarily by those who might otherwise brooms dependant upon them for continued care and support.

While the most amage and soneround disposition of markind are substrictly by every association of this description, its beneficiaries are exempted from bring placed in the degraded condition of recipients of the bommy of shorts. For, by the contract into which they exter, they purebase and fairly earn all the benefic schirth they may be made, as a matter of just and legal right; and, if it so please Providence that they except the affection against which they have assumily provided, the satisfactory reflection is left, that the price of their own inaminity has been applied to the oradort and subcor of facile less formante fellow beings.

It is presumed that no extended argument can be required to recommend the abject of this Company to public consideration. A perusal of the Rebe and Regulations adopted by the Directors, which may be had at my other, will afford an apple insight into the principles of the Institution, and of its modes of operation.

TY CHATSTON & NORMAN 187 TRAMES STREET,

THURSDAY MORN'O, MARCH 11, 1862.

Cy Cos of the most important considerations involved in our Spring election is that if the locolocos can secure both branches of the General Assembly, one of their aret acts will be to alter the Constitution. This was intimated by Lieut. Gavernor Lawrence in his speech against the Maine Liquor Law, in the Senate: be said,

"And I regard as among not the least important modes of raising the standard of humanity, universal suiting and the integration of the invidious distinctions now to be found, in our State ulone, between different classes of ciri-Make our adopted citizens, citizens in fact, and you at once clevate them in their own eyes and give them conceiling to reflection, to occupy their heisure moments, other than the routine f their daily labors or sensual grutifica-

This is the cunning language of the demagogue, which an aristocratic locofoce always makes use of with the hope of securing the votes of laboring people, and these whom these very pristogratio men term the "second class," or "lower order of esciety," or "common people." William Beuch Lawrence does not cure a farthing for a poor mechanic; all he desires is to secure the votes of these nich. Near election time he will talk loudly in their favor, and make strong protestations of an abiding interest in their behalf, but this is all assumed, for the occasion, and it evaporates when . the result of the election is announce ed.

The Providence Herald, edited by Dorr, who was convicted of Treason against the State; and who graduated from the States Prison only a few years age, made the following announcement. a week since,-

"The Constitution is so weak and sickly an affair, that the first touch is fatal. To repair it is like putting new cloth into an old and intered garment, and the rent is made worse. Why then and the rent is made worse. Why then try to repair it at all? The shortest and best way into make a new one."

Thus it will be seen that it is the setfied determination of the lecofocos, if they can secure both branches of the General Assembly this spring, to after the Cozetiustion, and fulnter upon the people of Rhode Island the "People's Constitution," which caused so much trouble and expense in 1842,- that very expense shout which the locologue and that segecious 'committee of investigattion" have been making so much noise.

Lieut Governor Lawrence is a thorough going Dorrite, and adheres to all the notions and fancies which were laid down by the traiter in 1842, and which he attempted to carry into operation at that time. Lieut, Governor Lawrence avowed this to us, a year ago, and adord that if he had been in the State in 1512, he should have done all in his prover to have sided Dorr in his rebellious and treatonable measures.

We ask the spher-minded people of Rhode Island if they are prepared to have the ecenes of 1842 re-enacted, or if they teel sale in voting for any man for a responsible office, who avows his belief that Dorr was right, and that his rebullion ought to have been successful! 1 The locatocos would have attacked the Constitution this year, if they had possessed the power; but a Whig majority in the House prevented such a disastrous step. Let the Whigs of the State arouse to a sense of duty, and let them preserve the Constitution as it , is, and perpetuate our institutions as they are, by electing a majority of both branches of the General Assembly from their own ranto. This, and this alone, can secure ve domestic tranquility; and if this is not done, at the coming election. The inmate of a small pox hospital generally keeps what little money he the consequences will be fatal in the extreme, and the injury can never be repaired, even in long years to come .-Let us act well and wisely, zealously and unitedly, and we shall secure the State by a triumphant majority.

A REMARKABLE HEN.-A gentleman of our acquaintance, in marketing a day or two since, bought from a wagon a hen of ordinary size and appearance, but the great weight of which excited his curiosity, and upon having it killed and cleaned, a remarkable fact was disclosed, and its extraordinary weight accounted for-the creature was found to contain twenty five eggs, eighteen of which were of full size, with yolks and whites, although their shells were still solt; the ramaining eight were of a yellow color, and varied in size from that of a hickory nut to that of a cherry. This remarkable bird was purchased in the Charleston market from Mr. Bradley, the keeper of the Four Mile House, near this city, and has been returned to his hands for the inspection of his customers and the curious in such matters. -Charleston, S. C., News, 5th.

DISTABLE PROPAGATED BY BANK Notes .- Dr. Thomas H. Buckler, who was for several years physician to the Baltimore alinshouse, has recently published a history of epidemic cholerafrom which we make an extract:-

"Since the money pressure of 1837, the banks in many of the states have usued accord millions of one, two, and three dollars notes, the effect of which has been to drive silver out of circulagenerally keeps what little money he may chance to have about insperson.—
If he wante a lemon, he sends a note saturated with the poison, and having, perhaps, the very sea-sick odor of smallpox, to a confectioner, who takes it, of course. On leaving the hospital, the convolusion of the paths on the paths of the path pays some twelve or fitteen dollars board. Provisions are wanted for the other patients, and the hotes are eent to market, where they are taken both by market, where they are taken both by town and country people, and may pase through twenty different hands in a single day. It would be impossible to conceive of any better mode of distri buting the poison of a disease known to be so very contagious and infectious,— ft could harily be worse if so many rage were distributed from the clothing of small pox patients."

Bon Gaultier's Rallade. - Mesers Redfield, New York, and B. B. Mussey, Boston, have given a good edition of the Book of Ballads, edited by Bon Gualtier. This is a new edition, with several new ballads and humorous illustrations. These poems have most of them been published in the London Punch and other foreign journals. We copy THE LAY OF THE LOVER'S FRIEND.

I would all womankind were dead, Or banished o'er the sea; For they have been a hitter plague These six but weeks to me. It is not that I m touched myself, For that I do not fear: No female face both shown me grace; For many a by-gone year, But 'tis the most infernal bore. Of all the bores I know, To have a friend who's lost his heart A short time ago.

Whene'er we steam it to Blackwall, Or down to Greenwich run. To qualf the pleasant cider cup, And feed on fish and fug: Or climb the slopes of Richmond Hill, To catch a breath of nir; Then for my sins, he straight begins To rave about his fair. Oh. 'tis the most tremendous bore, Of all the bores I know, To have a friend who's lost his heart A short time ago.

In vain you pour into his ear Your own confiding grief; In vain you chain his sympathy, In vain you ask relief; In vain you try to rouse him by Joke, repartre, or nuiz; His sole reply 's a burning righ, And "What a mind it is." Oh, 'tis the most tremendous bore, &c.

I've heard her thoroughly described A hundred times, 1 'to sure. And all the while I've tried to smile, And patiently endure; He waxes strong upon his pangs, And potters o'er his grog; And still I say, in a playful way, "Why, you're a lucky dog !"

But, oh it is the heaviest bore, ke. I really wish he 'd do like me, When I was young and strong; I formed a position every week, But never keut it long. But he has not the sportive mood That always reserved me, And so I would all women could Be banished o'er the rea. For 'tis the most egregious bore, &c.

Important if true.-Under this head the New York Express states that letters from Paris announce that the British government has officially informed the French government that the moment a French soldier is sent across the Belgian territory, the city of Antwerp and the forts on the Scheldt will be occupied with a r English army of ten thousand men.
